Mill Railroad Contract Talks Underway Here

Pact Will Expire Jan. 17; Federal Mediators Are Called

In an effort to avert a strike which could close the Monessen and Allenport plants of Pittsburgh Steel Co., the U. S. Mediation and Conciliation Service has been asked to provide assistance in obtaining a new labor contract between the company and Monessen Southwestern Railway Lodge 447, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Negotiators from the railroad and Pittsburgh Steel have met twice before federal mediators in an effort to reach a contract agreement with the approximately 170 members of the lodge, a company statement said today.

The trainmen help makeup crews which provide nearly all the rail service required to operate the big Monessen works.

Faced with a Jan. 17 contract expiration, Pittsburgh Steel and Monessen Southwestern officials called in federal mediators last week. The first meeting under federal auspices was held last Thursday.

Meetings Are Held

The company's efforts to obtain a new contract with the trainmen began last April, the statement said. Seventeen meetings with the union were held before the company asked mediation assistance.

The spokesman said the contract offered by the firm provides benefits at least equal to those contained in contracts signed last August with all of the other 10 unions bargaining with Pittsburgh Steel.

Officials of Lodge 447 could not be reached today for comment on the situation. William Morgan, of Stockdale, is president of the union.

It was learned that a meeting of the lodge was held in the American Legion Home in Monessen Saturday. But no statements were issued afterwards.

The specific points of disagreement between Lodge 447 and Monessen Southwestern, which is wholly owned by Pittsburgh Steel, have not been revealed.

A recent strike by about 80 engineers of the Donora Southern Railroad threw more than 4,500 employes of the Donora mills of U. S. Steel Corp. out of work for 21 days.

The chief issue in that strike was a demand by the brotherhood that a fireman be assigned to each "dinky" engine operating in the steel plant. The strike was settled when both sides agreed to submit to arbitration.

Three Dead, Nine Hurt in Dynamite Blast at Emporium

EMPORIUM, Pa. (UP)—A dynamite mixing house at the Pennsylvania Powder Co. works blew up today with a shattering blast that killed three men, injured eight others, and broke windows for miles around.

The explosion set a fire which destroyed a nearby guncotton building and caused damage to about 20 other buildings in the plant area.

C. L. Erickson, the works chemist, said the cause of the blast "was taken with the lives that went with it."

The dead were workmen in the mixing house when it disintegrated at 7:15 a.m. with an earth-rocking roar that shook the countryside around this north - central Pennsylvania town, the county seat of Cameron County. The victims were identified as: Lewis Wykoff, Sinnemahoning; Luther Knisely, Keating Summit; and James Barton, Emporium.

The explosion will put the company out of production for about a month, a plant employe said. The plant, which manufactures nitroglycerine and dynamite for industrial use, had been working overtime shifts the past week to take up the slack in production caused by a similar blast Dec. 28 at the American Cynamid Co. explosives plant near New Castle where seven men were injured.

Zoning Action In Rostraver Twp. Postponed

Action on the proposed zoning ordinance for Rostraver Township has been postponed "until further notice," the township supervisors announced today.

They said they are withholding action "until such time that all the citizens of Rostraver Township have had a full opportunity to express their views. . .in public hearings."

The supervisors said they are not in favor of "adopting any zoning ordinance until the citizens are completley satisfied that it is to their advantage."

The motion to delay action was made by John Turner and seconded by Edward Kirkpatrick.

Glass Companies Named in Price Discrimination

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Federal Trade Commission charged the nation's two major automobile safety glass manufacturers with selling glass to General Motors and Ford Motor Co. at favored prices.

Named in separate complaints were Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co., Toledo, Ohio, and Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., Pittsburgh. Each was charged with price discrimination in violation of the Robinson-Patman amendment to the Clayton anti-trust act.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass was charged with having sold automotive safety glass to Ford at discounts of as much as 67 percent off the price charged glass distributors and dealers competing with Ford in the resale of the glass.

Libbey-Owens was charged with having sold at lower prices to General Motors.

According to the complaints, both Ford and General Motors sell the glass to their dealers who formerly were serviced by independent glass distributors and dealers.

The companies were given 30 days to answer the complaints. An FTC examiner will hold hearings March 11 in Pittsburgh on the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. complaint and in Toledo on March 13 on the Libbey-Owens complaint.

Driving Hazardous in Area; Colder Weather Due Tonight

A six-inch white blanket of snow covered the Monessen district today and police said driving conditions were hazardous on most roads.

It was still snowing in the City at noon and temperatures were below freezing.

The snow was due to several weak low pressure areas which moved through the Middle Atlantic States last night. A leading edge of much colder air was expected to move into the northern part tonight and across the state rapidly.

Temperatures in the district were mostly in the 20's and the mercury was expected to range from the middle 20's to the low 30's tonight.

State police imposed a 35 mile-per-hour speed limit along the entire length of the Turnpike, which had its first fatal accident of 1957 Sunday when an automobile skidded across the medial strip into the path of a truck near the Allegheny Interchange.

Snows Are Heavy

Western Pennsylvania counties took the brunt of the snow and ice conditions, with depths ranging from two to three inches at Pittsburgh, Punxsutawney, Bedford, Clearfield, Greensburg, Somerset, and Erie to five inches of hard, light snow at Butler.

Eastern counties reported a general fall of about one inch.

Meanwhile, a new invasion of Arctic air poured into the northern plains and began surging southward.

The widespread snowstorm dumped moderate accumulations from Minnesota to northern Illinois and east through the mid and north Atlantic Coast states.

South of the snow area, freezing drizzle and rain spread the area of treacherous road conditions as far south as the northern portion of the Gulf Coast states and most of Louisiana.

Some early morning readings included New York 30, Washington 30, Miami 61, New Orleans 61, Chicago 34, Denver 26, Los Angeles 50 and Seattle 38.

Miss Ford's first fight was conducted under Portugese rules and she did not kill the bull. She dispatched her second bull of the day Spanish-fashion, with a sword.

Miss Ford will perform in the bull ring here again next Sunday.

Dulles Says Red Move Would Be 'Major Disaster'

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told congressmen today a Communist breakthrough in the Middle East would be a "major disaster" for the whole world.

He said a successful Red land grab in the oil rich area, in addition to its immediate harmful effects on the West, also would encourage Soviet rulers to "resort everywhere" to more aggressive policies.

Dulles appeared before the House Foreign Affairs Committee to tell in detail how the administration hopes to head off Communist expansion in the Middle East through the new "Eisenhower doctrine" of U.S. military protection and economic aid to countries which seek it.

The White House meanwhile announced the appointment of former Rep. James P. Richards, a South Carolina Democrat who headed the House Foreign Affairs Committee in the last Congress, to lead a special U.S. mission to the Middle East to explain the Eisenhower doctrine. Richards also will serve as a special assistant to the President to coordinate plans for the new U.S. program.

Asked Standby Authority

President Eisenhower outlined the doctrine before a joint session of Congress Saturday. He requested standby authority to use U.S. troops to defend any Middle East nation which requested our help, and permission to supply military and economic aid to the area at a rate of about $600 million over the next three years.

The Democratic controlled Congress is expected to go along with the President's program, after long and close scrutiny. In the House hearings which began this morning, members were ready with a number of questions, including the possibility of a time limit on the proposed troop authority.

Dulles said President Eisenhower's new policy is intended to insure peace, "not war."

But he said bluntly that there is "danger . . . of open armed attack" by Russia or a Russian satellite in the Middle East.

Explains Dangers

There also is danger of internal Red subversion and the risk that economic conditions in the Middle East countries might become so bad as to make Communism seem an attractive choice, Dulles said.

"Any program, to be adequate, must be prepared to meet all three of these dangers and any combination of them."

Two committee members, Reps. Armistead I. Selden Jr. (D-Ala) and James G. Fulton (R-Pa) said there were many "unanswered questions" about the proposal to which they want answers.

Fulton said he wanted to know whether any time limit is contemplated for the standby authority which Mr. Eisenhower requested for using U.S. troops, if necessary, to resist Communist aggression in the Middle East.

The President set no limit on

Nautilus to Be Refueled for The First Time

WASHINGTON (UP)—America's first atomic-powered submarine, the Nautilus, is about to be refueled for the first time now that it has traveled a record-breaking 50,000-plus miles over a two-year period.

The Navy has decided to refuel the Nautilus to keep it up to peak performance. It presumably could go even further on its original load of enriched uranium, but it would be operating at reduced efficiency.

The refueling process will consist of replacing the present uranium slugs in the ship's atomic power plant. The old slugs probably will be sent to the Arco, Idaho, atomic test center to determine exactly how much farther the Nautilus could have traveled on the original fuel.

It was just about two years ago that the Nautilus set forth on the first atomic-powered voyage in history by going down the Thames River from Connecticut into the Long Island Sound.

Since that date, Jan. 17, 1955, the Navy has built or has in the planning stages 18 more atomic-powered craft, including a giant carrier and a missile cruiser.

The Nautilus has surpassed the hopes of it most ardent backers in performance and endurance.

Just how far she has traveled is a closely kept secret, but the Navy has said it has cruised more than 50,000 miles, much of that distance submerged.

Boy Saves Baby Cousin from Flaming Death

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A seven year-old boy crawled on his hands and knees through a wall of fire Sunday to rescue his infant cousin from a flaming bedroom.

Albert Thompson crawled unnoticed into the room after discovering the blaze while dressing for church.

"None of us could get into the bedroom," Mrs. Rose Collins said. "First thing we knew Albert came out with this little fellow in his arms."

Albert and the six-weeks-old cousin, Anthony Collins, escaped injury.

Fire officials said the cause of the blaze was undetermined. Damage to the Hill District home was estimated at $2,000.

Avra N. Pershing Candidate for Judge in Westmoreland County

Attorney Avra N. Pershing, Jr., of Greensburg, formally announced today that he is a candidate for common pleas judge of Westmoreland County.

The well known lawyer, who acted as special prosecutor in a Monessen vote fraud case stemming from the 1953 election, said he will seek both the Republican and Democratic nominations at the May 21 primaries. He is a registered Republican.

Two judgeships become vacant in the county this year. Judge Richard D. Laird has announced that he will not seek reelection. He is over 80 years of age.

Judge Edward G. Bauer is expected to seek reelection to a second 10-year term. Both judges are Democrats.

Judge Bauer will have the support of the Democratic courthouse organization, of which he is one of the top leaders.

But the organization is split over the other nomination with three candidates so far in the running. They are District Attorney L. Alexander Sculco, Joseph M. Loughran, and James McWherter.

Loughran, formerly Sculco's chief assistant, resigned several weeks ago, charging that Chief County Detective Arthur B. "Buddy" Turner, who he said dominates Sculco, had forbidden him (Loughran) to run for judge.

Avra N. Pershing, Jr.

McWherter is a nephew of Judge George H. McWherter and a son of Miles C. McWherter, veteran Register of Wills.

Pershing, although he has never participated actively in politics, has been mentioned as a possible judgeship candidate on several previous occasions but never consented to run until this year. He is regarded as one of the county's best lawyers.

In a statement announcing his candidacy, Pershing said he believes judges should be strictly non-partisan.

He pointed out that the Canons of Ethics of the American Bar Association requre that judges refrain "from actively promoting the interests of any political party against another while holding that office".

Pershing declined today to amplify this statement but there was little doubt that he had in mind the continuous political activity of some of the present judges, particularly Judge Bauer.

Fifty-one years of age, Pershing is a native of Greensburg, where he has practiced law ever since graduating from Pitt Law School in 1929.

He did his undergraduate work at Lafayette College, where he wa.

Seven Hurt in Series Of District Accidents

Ice-slick roads resulted in seven persons being injured in three different accidents over the weekend.

A 17-year-old Monessen girl, Florence Formato, is in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital today with lacerations and bruises of the face and head suffered yesterday afternoon when she lost control of her car on the Monessen-Webster road. Two other girls in the car were less seriously injured.

State Police stated that Miss Formato, of 349 McGeary street, was unable to control her car when it skidded on a patch of ice. The machine struck a steel girder at the side of the highway, then hurtled across the road and hit another girder, throwing Miss Formato onto the street.

Also injured were two sisters, Christine, 14, and Gloria Mykovich, 9, of 430 Indiana avenue. They were treated at the hospital for minor bruises and released.

Two persons were injured slightly when cars operated by Helen Revak, of R. D. 2, Belle Vernon, and John Dziejcyk, of Monessen, collided near the intersection of Routes 51 and 71 yesterday.

Injured were Mrs. Ann Dziejcyk and Pauline Yursco of Monessen, both passengers in the Dziejcyk car. They suffered minor bruises, it was stated.

Two persons received treatment Saturday night for injuries resulting from a two-car accident on Route 837, south of Monongahela.

Police said Thomas H. Bryner, 27, of Charleroi, and a relative, Shriver Bryner, 84, also of Charleroi, suffered slight head injuries when the car operated by the former collided with an auto driven by Edward Johnson, of Monongahela. Johnson, police said, will be charged with improper passing.

In another accident, Warren Yowmanm 33, of R. D. 1, West Newton, was cited for failing to stop for a blinking red traffic signal. His action, police stated, apparently resulted in a collision with a car driven by Donald Rosche, 23, of Clairton. The mishap occurred at Fellsburg.

Fire Co. No. 2 Elects Officers

Robert Caldwell was reelected president of Monessen Volunteer Fire Department No. 2 at a meeting yesterday.

Others reelected include Charles Yatchyshyn, financial secretary, and George Josay. New officers are Dr. A. M. Persico, vice-president; Paul Buchko, recording secretary; Steve Murin, inside guard, and Harry Bratosik, John Yerga, Edward Francowic and Gene Sudgate, trustees.

Assembly in First Work Meeting of New Session

Committees to Be Announced In Harrisburg

HARRISBURG (UP)—The ponderous machinery of the General Assembly was set in motion for the first work meeting of the 1957 session today.

Although snowfalls in scattered sections of the state may reduce attendance this week, standing committees will be announced and bills will start dropping in the legislative hoppers.

The Senate will reconvene at 4 p.m. and the House one half hour later.

Over the weekend, House Speaker W. Stuart Helm (R-Armstrong) and Sen. M. Harvey Taylor (R-Dauphin), Senate president pro tempore, worked to complete the makeup of committees and to clear the agenda of organizational procedsures.

Republicans will control all committees because of their working majorities in the two chambers—27 to 23 in the Senate and 126 to 83 in the House. Most of the committee chairmanships in the Senate will be retained by Republicans who headed them in the last session, while GOP members will oust Democratic leaders in the House.

Important Posts

Rep. Wayne M. Breisch (R-Schuylkill), a member since 1945, will be named chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, which receives all tax bills. The House Appropriations Committee will be headed once again by Rep. Norman Wood (R-Lancaster), who held that post before Democrats won control of that chamber in the record long 1955-56 session.

In the Senate, Sen. Leroy E. Chapman (R-Warren) returns as chairman of the Appropriations Committee, and Sen. Edward J. Kessler (R-Lancaster) as head of the Senate Finance Committee.

Although the issues of taxes and finances will not move into the spotlight until the Legislature receives Gov. George M. Leader's budget message, expected sometime in February, a number of bills requiring revenue will make their debut in the interim.

Among them is the proposal for payment of a $150,000,000 bonus to approximately 335,000 Pennsylvania veterans of the Korean War.

Such a proposed constitutional amendment would compensate Korean veterans at the rate of $10 a month for domestic and $15 a month for foreign service, with a $500 limit. It passed the 1955-56 Legislature, but needs passage at this session and an okay from the voters before it could go on the statute books.

The governor, in his "state of the Commonwealth" message delivered before a joint session New Year's Day, said he favored the bonus with an accompanying tax program to pay for it.

Senate Probe Into Federal Highway Lag

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate investigators opened an inquiry today into a reported lag in starting construction of the $27 billion network of superhighways authorized by Congress last year.

The Senate roads subcommittee called Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks and Federal Highway Administrator John A. Volpe for questioning in the first of three days of public hearings. They will be followed by spokesmen for state highway officials and road builders.

Subcommittee Chairman Albert Gore (D-Tenn) told a reporter he was "disturbed by repeated reports of tardiness" in getting the highway program rolling.

Congress last year authorized—and President Eisenhower approved—the building of 41,000 miles of superhighways across the nation during the next 13 years. The federal government will pay nine-tenths of the cost and states, the other one-tenth.

Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM), chairman of the public works committee, of which the roads subcommittee is a part, said the investigators also would look into reported shortages of construction material and engineering personnel that might delay the project.

Russian Tanks Bring New Fears Into Budapest

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UP)—Anger surged through the Hungarian people today in the electric atmosphere that followed announcement of the nation's return to the chains of a "dictatorship of the proletariat."

Soviet tanks appeared before Budapest's public buildings again to enforce the announcement by Dictator-Premier Janos Kadar, that aroused new fears of a nationwide purge.

The Kadar announcement all but crushed the last hope of Hungarian patriots for political freedom. Any optimism that Hungary would become another Poland vanished.

The defiant 10,000-word statement of the return to Stalinism was a blunt and brutal warning to the orther satelliter — Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Romania, Albania dnd East Germany — to be content with their lot.

The declaration was drafted in a four-day Budapest meeting of satellite leaders with Soviet Communist Party Secretary Nikita S. Krushchev and former Premier Georgi Malenkov.

As the announcement was broadcast, Russian tanks clanked into position before the modern headquarters of the secret police—the first target of the revolutionaries in their October revolt.

SAYS CASE WELL PLANNED — Marie McDonald said today she thinks her kidnaping was "well planned." Two men are accused of abducting the Hollywood actress from her San Fernando Valley home. Actress Thinks 'Kidnaping' Well Planned in Advance

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Marie McDonald said today that she thinks "the case of the kidnaped 'body'" was planned well in advance because her two alleged abductors "walked into my house as if they had lived there all their lives."

In an exclusive interview with United Press, the 32-year-old blonde gave her version of a 24-hour ordeal which she claimed began last Thursday night when two zoot-suit-type youths kidnaped her from her $65,000 home.

Miss McDonald said an "enemy" may have arranged the kidnaping because "any one else would have taken my bag."

Los Angeles detectives said they know more about the case than they have revealed and "in a few days we should have it all out in the open. We have to lay all the facts before our superiors first."

Marie's theory as to who may have master-minded the bizarre kidnaping was one point of her story that she revealed for the first time since returning to her Encino home late Saturday by private ambulance from Indio where she was found wandering along a desert road.

Pushed Open Gate

"They must have pushed open the electric gate," she said as she rested in the bedroom of her early American-style house.

"Anybody can—I do sometimes when I forget my key. The boys didn't bark. He's like that. He even walked with us all the way to the gate when they took me away.

"Those two men came in, calm as anything and knew every inch of the house. They made me get out the notepaper and newspapers for the kidnap note.

"I think they were high on something. One of them had a gun. We got in a car and they blindfolded me and we just kept going round and round. Once we stopped for gas and they made me lie on the floor of the car."

Forced To Telephone

She said she telephoned friends while being held prisoner because her abductors forced her to.

"They told me to call a columnist," she went on. "They wanted to alarm the people they planned to ask for ransom money. The only number I could remember was Harrison Carroll's (columnist for the Los Angeles Herald-Express).

"They would ask me a number, dial it for me and then hand me the phone. The only call I made without their knowledge was to my business manager and when they caught me with the phone they smacked me."

She said the young men planned to ask $20,000 each from her wealthy ex-husband, shoe magnate Harry Karl; her current boy friend, actor Michael Wilding; her mother, Mrs. Marie Tuboni, and her business manager, Harold Plant.

"They gave me pills to take, big white pills with a blue cross. They made me wash them down with strong whiskey," the blonde actress said, her voice shaking with fatigue and emotion.

"I held some of the pills in my cheek and didn't swallow them."

She said one of the youths called the other, "gasser."

After Marie was found wandering on the desert near Indio early Saturday, police quoted her as saying she had been raped. A doctor later said she had not been. Today when I asked her about the reports she cried, "Oh, please I can't talk any more."

Detectives say they plan to question her today regarding a seven-carat diamond ring she says the kidnapers stole.

Rarick Refers To Conferences As Big Waste

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Don C. Rarick, who will oppose David J. McDonald for the United Steelworkers president next month, today described the union's regional cracker-barrel conferences as a waste of money.

Rarick, referring to reports the six conferences will cost as much as $1 million, said this is "unnecessary spending."

The first conference opened in New York last Thursday. The second will be held in Philadelphia this week and three more are scheduled before the union's February election.

Rarick, a McKeesport [illegible] and chairman of the International Dues Protest Committee, said McDonald told the USW's September convention the dues increase from $3 to $5 a month was needed "to meet expenses." Rarick asserted the increase was not necessary.

"A lot of us still don't think so. Here is is less than four months since the [illegible] on which they told us cost $2 million, and $1 million of it is going spent to talk about the contract and the [illegible] of the union we were told about then."

Chou in Moscow For Series of Talks

MOSCOW (UP)—Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai arrived here today for three days of high-level talks on problems ranging from Hungary to the Middle East and the Eisenhower doctrine.

Chou arrived here by plane from Peking at 4 p.m. (8 a.m. EST) and was met at the airport by such Communist leaders as Party Boss Nikita S. Khrushchev, Premier Nikolai Bulganin and former Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov.

Dulles

the duration for such authority. But Fulton said he believed it should be restricted to two years and that Congress should have a "veto" over its continued use.

He said there also was the question of defining the precise geographical area which the Middle East comprises.

Similar questions were being raised in the Senate. Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which will question Dulles later, raised these points about the plan in an interview.

"How did we get into this state of emergency in the Middle East which requires this drastic remedy?

"What armed forces do we have available to carry out the Eisenhower policy and how does the President contemplate using them?

"Does he really feel there is a danger of Russia actually marching into the area?"

Mr. Eisenhower told Congress Saturday that his proposal was prompted by the "high degree of instability in much of the Middle East" and "Russia's desire to dominate the area."

Western Europe for Eisenhower Doctrine

LONDON (UP)—Western Europe extended a cautious welcome today to the Eisenhower doctrine. But the plan drew sharply divided reaction in the Middle East and Asia and bitter condemnation from Soviet Russia and the satellites.

Official British reaction was limited to welcoming the American concern over the future of the area. The British press thought the plan was too little and too late and said it failed to touch the basic problems of Middle East ferment—Arab nationalism.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said Sunday night before flying to New York it was too early to make a final judgment on Eisenhower's proposals but "as a whole we like it very much."

"As a matter offact," Pineau said, "President Eisenhower has now taken up most of the solutions I have been defending for a long time myself."

Moscow Radio unleashed a propagarda warfare against the Eisenhower doctrine as concentrated as the venom it hurled in the past on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Marshall Plan.

Most Soviet broadcasts and editorials emphasized the split between the United States and Britain and France and tried to widen it. But broadcasts beamed to the Arab nations took the line that America was trying to replace British and French "colonialism" with U.S. "colonialism."

Spain had no official comment on the plan, but the Catholic morning paper Ya said in Madrid that the plan could bring Russia and the United States face to face "for the clash." But it said the important thing is that "Washington has taken a definite attitude of responsibility towards the fate of the Middle East."

Oppose "Intervention"

Egypt, Syria, Jordan and other nations linked against the Baghdad Pact were opposed to any form of "intervention." Turkey and the members of the Baghdad Pact warmly welcomed the Eisenhower doctrine.

Asian nations friendly to the United States generally welcomed the plan. Japanese government quarters hailed the plan for stating in "clear terms" where the United States stood. But the Japanese Socialist Party said the authority given the President "might result in provoking war if it is mistakenly used."

Redstone Jointure Considered

Jan. 22 Meeting Planned

Another school jointure in Fayette County is being considered.

Redstone Township School District has invited boards of five other districts to attend a meeting Tuesday night, Jan. 22 in the high school to discuss the plan.

Invited are Luzerne, Jefferson and Brownsville townships and Brownsville and West Brownsville boroughs. The county office also will be represented and possibly the Pennsylvania Economy League.

The objective is to determine what districts are interested in the jointure as proposed in the master plan of the county office. Committees probably will be appointed to study proposals and make concrete plans, a spokesman said last night.

"The county office is doing its utmost to assist in our progressive step. The staff has cooperated in every way," added Joseph Mazurek, president of the Redstone school board.

The president also disclosed the township has been given the "green light" by the State department of Education to draw up plans for an addition to the high school. The $100,000 annex would provide a science room, band room and library.

Otto Amann, executive secretary of the Fayette County Branch, Pennsylvania Economy League, recently said t

"Redstone township board has made tremendous progress in the comparatively short time in office.

"When the present board assumed office in December, 1955, the district was over $300,000 in debt. By the end of the present term the indebtedness will be between $60,000 and $80,000.

"We anticipate that by the end of next school term the district will be completely 'out of the red.' Amann said.

NAMED SPECIAL AIDE TO PRESIDENT — Former U. S. Senator Walter F. George (D-Ga.) is congratulated as President Eisenhower confers the rank of Ambassador on him at a ceremony in the White House. Looking on is Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. George will be the President's "trouble-shooter" in foreign affairs problems and act as his special representative to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

a star center on the football team. Previously he had been a standout player on Greensburg High School teams.

Pershing served as line coach at Greensburgh High for several years and later was head coach at Hurst High School. He was also a well known football official.

During World War II, Pershing served in the Army air corps, holding the rank of major. He is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion and Amvets.

Active in civic work in the Greensburg area, he served until recently as president of the Greater Greensburg Planning Association. He is a member of the Rotary Club of Greensburg.

Pershing is married and lives at 32 Woodland avenue, Greensburg. The Pershings have no children.

When the official count of ballots in the 1953 county election showed discrepancies in the first precinct of the Second Ward of Monessen, a State Police investigation was ordered. Because Sciulco was a candidate for District Attorney in that election, Pershing was designated by Judge Laird as special prosecutor.

With the full-time aid of two State Police detectives, Pershing directed a searching inquiry. The result was the indictment of seven persons, including all five members of the precinct election board, on numerous charges of fraud and conspiracy.

In a spectacular trial presided over by Judge Ivan J. McKenrick, of Cambria County, six of the seven men were convicted. The seventh, Monessen City Clerk Frances Crum, was acquitted by direction of Judge McKenrick before the case went to the jury.

Following is the text of Pershing's statement announcing his candidacy:

"To the Voters of Westmoreland County:

"After serious consideration I have decided to become a candidate for Judge of the courts of Westmoreland County on both Republican and Democratic tickets.

"The nature of this office of Judge is such that it must be nonpartisian.

"I am confident that the voters of Westmoreland County will prefer to select a Judge for his qualifications alone rather than from political considerations.

"I believe that my experience gained from practically 30 years of legal training and active practice in the many phases of law including an extensive experience in the actual trial of cases in court is proper qualification. Furthermore, I have had some actual judicial experience gained as a member of various military courts during part of my military service in the Army Air Forces in World War II.

"If elected, I will do my best to faithfully and properly fulfill all the responsibilities of a Judge of these courts.

Two Washington, Pa. Area Youths Killed

By UNITED PRESS

Snow and ice covered most highways throughout Pennsylvania during the week end, and although traffic was lighter than normal the hazardous driving conditions took their toll in lives.

A United Press survey showed at least 11 persons were killed in highway accidents.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike recorded its first traffic fatality of the year and two youths were killed in a head-on collision near Washington, Pa.

The fatalities:

Pittsburgh: August Smith, 73, Creighton, Allegheny County, was killed Sunday on the Pennsylvania Turnpike about one miles west of the Allegheny Valley Interchange when his automobile skidded across the medial line into an oncoming truck. Two passengers in his car were injured but the truck driver escaped harm.

Philadelphia: Giovanni Rosanio, 78, suffered fatal injuries Sunday night when struck down by an automobile near his Philadelphia home. Police identified the driver of the car as Raymond Scarbo, also of Philadelphia.

Washington, Pa.: Robert Miner, 17, of near Washington, and Danny Spingola, 16, Houston, Pa., were killed Sunday when their car crashed into a pole at a service station on Route 40, about one mile west of here. State police said Miner was attempting to pass three cars and swerved into the station to avoid a head-on collision with a truck.

Bristol: Albert Thompson, 17 Philadelphia, died Sunday of injuries suffered when an automobile in which he was riding crashed into a utility pole near here in Bucks County. Two 17-year-old companions were injured, including the driver, William S. Purnell, also of Philadelphia.

Philadelphia: Robert Read, 15, suffered fatal injuries Saturday night when he was struck down by an automobile as he walked to his Philadelphia home from a church dance. Police said the driver of the car, William C. Walsh, 59, Huntington Valley, was operating his vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants.

Franklintown: Kenneth Gladfelter, 20, Dilisburg RD 2, was killed Saturday night when his car crashed head-on into another vehicle near here in York County. Police identified the driver of the other car as Ralph Snyder, also of Dillsburg.

Erie: Michael S. Sveda, 42, North East RD 1, suffered fatal injuries Saturday when his pick-up truck crashed into a New York Central passenger train at a grade crossing near his Erie County home. State police said Sveda apparently lost control of the vehicle on an icy stretch of roadway.

Altoona: Nancy Russyn, 22, Smithmill, died Saturday of injuries suffered the night before when her car skidded on the Janesville Pike near Tyrone, Blair County, and struck a tree. She was pinned in the vehicle for two hours before a rescue team could free her.

Altoona: Paul Barynyak, 56, a state Highways Department worker, suffered fatal injuries Friday night when struck down by a truck near Roaring Spring in Blair County. The truck driver, Eugene L. Kuhns, 26, Williamsburg, told police an automobile in front of him on Route 164 narrowly missed striking Barnyak. By the time he saw the pedestrian in the middle of the road, it was too late to stop, Kuhns said.

PTA to Change Meeting

The January meeting of the Monessen Parent Teacher Association will not be held on Jan. 16, due to Civic Music Association activities. The session wil be delayed until the week of Jan. 21, and the exact night will be announced.

At a recent meeting of the executive committee held in the office of Dr. Joseph Pallone, superintendent of schools, reports were given on the Christmas activities of the unit.

W. R. H. Patterson was in charge and Mrs. John Stieska, hospitality chairman, reported that Christmas parties in the schools were held instead of the regular unit meeting. For this project there were 1767 gifts purchased along with ice cream for the treat.

Help with Parties

The building chairmen, hospitality chairmen and home room mothers assisted with the parties in each elementary building and Mrs. Matt Zoretich and Mrs. John Dragan assisted with the special class party.

High School Administrator Henry Furio announced that the Student Council is interested in sponsoring two exchange students here next year, instead of one, if arrangements for their residence can be made. He urged the PTA members to make application by procuring blanks from him if interested in supplying the home for a student from abroad.

The executive board decided to adopt the project of providing refrigerated drinking fountains for each of the grade schools. This will be a long range project due to the cost of each cooler.

Airliner Saboteur Facing Execution

CANONCITY, Co'o. (UP)—John Gilbert Graham will be executed here this week for blowing an airliner out of the skies with a dynamite bomb, killing all 44 persons aboard.

State law prohibits disclosure of the exact time and date of executions in Colorado's gas chamber. The district court which sentenced the 24-year-old Graham to death directed the sentence to be carried out the week ending Jan. 12.

In bottom photo, she is shown as she suddenly realizes that she has been yelling needlessly. There is no pain and the whole thing is over. Aviva was one of 121,384 children slated for anti-polio shots.

Two Hurt in Airplane Crash

BEDFORD, Pa. (UP)—Snapped telephone and power lines, scattered remnants of a chimney and an airplane in an apple tree.

These marked the trail of a two-seater plane which crashed after take-off from the Bedford Airport Sunday night, injuring two men, one seriously.

Joseph O'Neill, 44, Baltimore Md., pilot of the single-engined plane, was treated for cuts and bruises at Bedford Hospital and later released. His companion, Robert McDonald, also of Baltimore, was detained with two vertebrae fractures.

State police said the craft failed to gain altitude rapidly enough after taking off from the Bedford air field, where the pilot had stopped for fuel while enroute from Baltimore to Ebensburg, Pa.

The plane struck a telephone line and hit a high tension power line, ripping out more than 1,000 feet of wire.

New Kensington Hospital; UMW Officials Meet

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa. (UP)—Officials of the United Mine Workers meet with executive committeemen of the New Kensington hospital board tonight in an attempt to settle, a dispute over hospital treatment for union members.

Francis McCallister, board member of UMW District 5, said the conference was arranged at the request of local miners who complained "their family doctors have been refused membership on the (Citizens General) hospital staff."

"We want to know why," McCallister said.

"We believe Citizens General Hospital is a community, nonprofit hospital," he declared. "Our members have contributed to its building program. But it looks like someone is trying to make it into a private hospital."

Citizens General has been removed from the list of hospitals accredited for payment by the UMW welfare fund. But McCallister insisted "the UMW welfare fund has nothing to do with this meeting."

Thomas Fitzpatrick, hospital administrator, declined comment on the upcoming meeting with the UMW officials.

"There is nothing I can say," he declared. "Our situation is just the same as it was."

The President's Request Should Be Granted

PRESIDENT Eisenhower, in his address to Congress on Saturday, outlined a policy for American action in the Middle East which seems to us to offer the best chance for averting major war in that area.

Mr. Eisenhower's exposition of the situation in the Middle East seemed to us to be accurate and fair to all concerned. Even though this country has differed with some of its allies in recent weeks, we do not see how even they could find in the President's address anything but a constructive desire to help the nations of the Middle East build a secure and fruitful life free of the threat of outside conquest and domination.

The President's request for authority to use American forces in the event of armed Communist aggression in the Middle East is the portion of his program which is likely to receive the most searching consideration in Congress. And properly so, in our judgment.

But Mr. Eisenhower made it clear that he would use this authority, should it be granted, only under three restrictive conditions. These are:

1. Only if the use of American troops were requested by the nation or nations under armed attack.

2. Only in "hour-by-hour" consultation with Congress. And the President specifies that if Congress does not happen to be in session when the emergency occurs, he will immediately call it into special session.

3. Only in keeping with the treaty obligations of the United States and the Charter and actions of the United Nations.

Under these conditions, the President is not, as some people have been saying, asking for a "blank check" to get the country into war. He has carefully circumscribed the authority which he is asking.

But the request for military authority is only one phase of the President's plan. He would also use economic and political methods to help the countries of the Middle East secure the national independence which so many of them are seeking.

WE DO NOT see how Congress can refuse to give the President substantially what he is asking — and with reasonable promptness.

Some leading Democrats in Congress and out have received the presidential message without enthusiasm. This is understandable. But we have yet to read a valid criticism of what the President is proposing. Instead the Democratic statements, including one by Adlai Stevenson, seem but echoes of the recent campaign. And those who are still chiding the President for "turning against" Britain and France after their attack on Egypt and for opposing the Israeli aggression are carrying partisanship beyond legitimate limits. The position of the United States in these recent weeks has been thoroughly vindicated.

IT IS WORTH noting that President Eisenhower's proposals do not envision any action by the United States in the differences between Israel and the Arab states. This, too, seems to us to be wise. The United States must try scrupulously to maintain the friendship and confidence of all the peoples of the Middle East, and that cannot be done if it undertakes the role of arbiter and referee.

The President's only concern in his request to Congress is to forestall an armed Communist invasion of the Middle East. Once this is done he feels the responsible forces of independence can operate and peaceful solutions can begin to be found for the problems of the area.

This strikes us as a logical prospect — not without its dangers, to be sure, but with good promise of success.

Another School Bill

WESTMORELAND County Congressman Augustine B. Kelley has won the favored designation "H. R. 1" for a new version of his bill to provide federal aid for school construction which was narrowly defeated at the last session after being encumbered by an unnecessary amendment concerning racial segregation.

News dispatches indicate that Mr. Kelley's new bill is changed only in detail from the previous version. It still provides for the distribution of federal funds on the basis of school population in the states without regard for wide differences among the states in their needs for new school buildings and in their financial resources.

Last year President Eisenhower favored a bill which would have taken into account these other factors as well as the population factor, but he indicated that he would settle for the Kelley Bill in order to get a program started. In the end the bill went down before a baffling complex of political and parliamentary maneuvering.

We are glad Congressman Kelley is raising the matter again and that his bill has been given the post position by the Democratic leaders of the House. We hope he will work diligently to get something done.

Merry-Go-Round—

Ike's Session With Congress Leaders Grim

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — White House conferences with congressional leaders have changed since the days of Roosevelt and Truman. During their 20-year period conferences seldom lasted longer than an hour, during which the President himself did most of the talking. Cabinet members were not often present. Roosevelt wisecracked, jousted with congressional leaders.

Mr. Pearson

Today these conferences have become grim seminars in American government lasting half a day, sometimes longer.

When congressional leaders were ushered into the White House on New Year's Day they winced when they saw four cabinet members, four bureau chiefs and the Vice President lined up as members of the "Eisenhower faculty" to lecture them.

Throughout the long, four-hour, closed-door session there was only one light note. It came when Arthur Larson, new head of the U. S. Information Agency, complained about lack of sufficient personnel.

"We need to expand our campaign of truth more than ever," Larson explained, "but we have difficulty getting sufficient appropriations from Congress."

"Maybe that's because we felt you are not appointing good deserving Democrats," chided Speaker Sam Rayburn. Mr. Sam had been grumpy and glum all through the meeting. At this point, the conference relaxed.

Most sensational statement came from Eisenhower that Prime Minister Nehru had told him: "In spite of everything, Nasser is the best Egyptian there is."

"Do you agree with that, Mr. President?" asked Senator Smith of New Jersey.

The President hesitated, tossed the matter off with a laugh.

Complaint on Leaks

Here is a boiled-down chronological account of what happened at this meeting.

The President opened the meeting by praising the Democrats for their bipartisan cooperation. If any member of his administration made partisan politics out of foreign policy, he wanted to know about it. He then explained that Secretary Dulles wanted to outline a two-point program to fill the vacuum in the Middle East.

Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson interrupted to explain that they wouldn't be able to take it up immediately because of the Senate fight on Rule 22. Ike mumbled that he "didn't know anything about the rule battle."

Congressman McCormack suggested they make Feb. 1 the target date for completing action on the President's program. Dulles cleared his throat, was about to say something, but the President quickly blurted: "That is agreeable to me."

Senator Johnson then complained about the Eisenhower doctrine news leak.

"We are glad to confer with you, Mr. President," Johnson said, "but frankly it is not very pleasing to read all about your Mid-East proposal before we get here."

"I'm sorry about that," replied the President, "but in spite of anything you can do about it, there are bound to be leaks. I've been fighting against it ever since I've been here."

Secretary Dulles volunteered that "after the first story broke" he had given a background briefing to some newsmen. This confession was greeted with knowing silence. Congressional leaders had previously learned that Dulles himself leaked the first story to the New York Times, with the OK of the President. Following this, they learned that he had invited other pet newsmen to his home.

Dulles Warns

Dulles then began his own lecture. He would up with an appeal that something had to be done to fill the vacuum created by the "misadventure of Britain and France."

"If we don't fill this vacuum," Dulles added. "Russia will."

Someone asked what Dulles considered the main Soviet threat. He replied that we don't expect any immediate overt action from the Soviets, but we can expect them to try to take over the governments of Syria, Jordan, Egypt, and the Sudan by subversion. He stressed that our policy must be "flexible enough to combat all types of aggression."

Dulles revealed that the Suez Canal would not be cleared as fast as the United States thought. He said it probably would not be completely opened until May 1. He also explained there was no final decision on the exact foreign aid for the Middle East. But he gave a tentative figure of $350,000,000. (This has been increased to $400,000,000.)

Congressman Taber of New York, the famed economizer, interrupted to say he wanted Dulles to be ready to justify fully all expenditures in this area.

Today and Tomorrow—

The Powers of Congress

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Although a group of Northern senators is attempting to limit the right to filibuster — the right, that is to say, of unlimited debate in order to prevent a vote on a bill — it would be a spectacular surprise if the Senate voted to amend its own rules. The amendment would require not only a big majority of the senators. The senators would have to be in a mood to fight for the amendment to the bitter end and at the risk of stalling all the other business of the Senate. For Rule XXII, which allows the filibuster, is in effect a veto, held by the Southern states, on federal legislation dealing with the relations of Negroes and whites.

Mr. Lippmann

It is interesting to note the history of the filibuster. As summarized by Irving Brant, the biographer of President Monroe, the right to filibuster did not exist in the early days of the Republic. From 1789 until 1806 debate could be ended at any time by a vote of the majority of the senators present. From 1806 until 1917, there was no limitation on debate.

In 1917, on the eve of our entrance into the first World War, the filibuster was used to block war-like measures which the Wilson administration was proposing. It was then that a cloture rule was adopted, providing that a debate could be ended by a vote of two-thirds of the senators who were present and voting. As Mr. Brant points out, under this rule, supposing there were 20 senators absent, debate could be ended by a vote of 51 to 25 — that is to say, by a very few more than a majority of all the senators.

Rule Adopted in 1949

The interesting and significant fact is that in 1949 the Senate amended its rules in favor of the filibuster, and to make it virtually impossible to limit debate. It adopted the famous Rule XXII which some of the Northern senators are now trying to amend.

Rule XXII does two things. Debate can be ended only if 64 senators are present and vote affirmatively to end it. Thus if 63 senators voted to end debate, while only 13 voted not to end debate, the 13 would prevail and the debate could not be ended. Then, to protect this right of filibuster, Rule XXII provides that there is an unlimited right to filibuster against an attempt to amend Rule XXII itself.

What happened in 1949? What happened was the Truman administration, with its determination to pass federal laws dealing with race relations. Although there was unlimited debate in the Senate for more than a century and until the first World War, the right to filibuster was never entrenched as it has been since 1949. The proof is that in 1917 the Senate did adopt a rule for closing debate. It was not until 1949 that Rule XXII virtually deprived the Senate of the right to amend Rule XXII. It is plain enough that Rule XXII was designed to establish what is tantamount to a Southern veto on the problems which may be subject to federal legislation.

The real issue in the argument about Rule XXII is whether Congress may legislate in the field of race relations. It is because Truman and then Eisenhower have wanted to legislate in this field Rule XXII will almost certainly be kept in force.

Legislation in Minor Role

The movement in this century towards desegregation and against legal and economic discrimination is one of the most impressive phenomena of our era. But it is highly unlikely that federal legislation will be allowed to play much of a part in this movement. The movement will proceed mainly by local actions that reflect extraordinary change of public opinion in almost all sections of the country.

Another interesting question about the powers of Congress is posed by the President's request for authority to use force in the Middle East. The theory of the Constitution is supposed to be that when the President tells Congress that a state of war exists or that a state of war should be declared, Congress then has the power to legalize the waging of war. In a case where the President is convinced before Congress is convinced that war in inevitable or that it is necessary — as for example President Roosevelt before Pearl Harbor — the legal authority of Congress has acted as a powerful check upon the President's pre-war actions.

The Eisenhower procedure is to ask Congress to underwrite in advance, even if it means war, the moves the President may decide to take. In the nature of things it is impossible for the President to be specific or clear as to what moves he may feel impelled or compelled to make. Therefore, a congressional vote of the kind President Eisenhower is asking is in effect a vote of confidence and a congressional commitment to support him in what follows.

Not every President would ask or could hope to get authority of this kind from Congress. If President Eisenhower asks for it, he will get it. But he will be incurring an obligation to keep Congress fully informed and closely advised not only as to what he does, but as to why he does it.

Sen. Clark a Man to Watch in New Congress

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—On snap judgment, the Democrats have come up with one new, bright and shining face in the new 85th Congress.

If the Republicans have a real political comer among the new members of Congress he has not yet emerged from the obscurity of the crowd.

Mr. Wilson

The new, bright and shining Democratic face belongs to Sen. Joseph Sill Clark, Jr., of Pennsylvania

Politicians often seek new faces with which to bait the voters much as fancy dress makers seek new looks in clothes to bait style-conscious women. New faces to party politicians are political newcomers who qualify in general for promotion to higher office — promotion to the White House, for example.

This is not to say the Democrats will go so far as to nominate a freshman senator for president in 1960. But, they might.

Clark has a lot of what it will take to get that nomination, and his record discloses him to be a politically ambitious man. Among his qualifications are these:

He will be about the right age in 1960, during which he will celebrate his 59th birthday.

Americans for Democratic Action, a left-wing splinter group with great power within the Democratic Party, claims Clark as one of its own. And the predictable trend of Democratic Party policy is to the left. The senator already is in step.

Clark is a political Jack the Giant Killer. His giant was the Republican organization in Philadelphia where, in 1951, he was elected the first Democratic mayor in 68 years.

The new senator comes from a big state matched only by California and exceeded only by New York in electoral votes.

Clark fits the pattern of Miss Democracy's more recent sweethearts, excluding, of course, Harry S. Truman. The senator is a Harvard graduate—magna cum laude. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. On that and other counts, Clark could qualify as an egghead. He is well off financially, and he's a lawyer.

Whips Incumbent Duff

Clark resigned as mayor of Philadelphia to run for the Senate against Republican incumbent James H. Duff and licked that once powerful Republican by 17,000 votes. That, however, is the stoutest of Clark's claims for future consideration by the Democratic Party.

While Clark was licking Duff by a few thousand votes, President Eisenhower was carrying Pennsylvania last November by a landslide margin of 600,000, and state Republicans were winning both houses of the Legislature.

Pennsylvania began to slip its Republican moorings under pressure of Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal. Clark, however, is the first Democrat sent up by Pennsylvania Democrats with any real chance of continuing to climb.

The senator is a man to watch as the story of the 85th Congress unfolds.

Fairly Spoken—

What's Happened to Art of Conversation?

By MARGARET LATROBE

Most schools in which foreign languages are taught have courses in "conversation". French, Spanish, Japanese, Hindustani — foreign tongues are given oral workouts.

English conversation? Who dat? Not only is civilized discourse a forgotten subject in schools, so rare is its practice that people refer to an "evening of good conversation" with the same frightened awe with which one might describe personal observance of an H-bomb explosion. "Uh-, well, ah, I'm speechless."

Mrs. Latrobe

By pursuing the eventful evening in greater detail, one usually finds that its excellent vintage conversation was really a monologue. Worth hearing, indeed. Someone had interesting experiences to tell, which he did at great length. No fool, he. Man gets few opportunities with audiences captivated by what he can tell 'em. The same lad at the next party becomes a full-blown bore. Spoiled by previous spell-binding, he's loaded for bear. As he is launched on the same yarn of erstwhile delight, wifey breaks in starchily, "Hey, Buster, you're repeating yourself, remember?"

"Yeh?" he says. "Yeh," says she. And the monologuist retires, not without hope. Some other time, some other group. . . once more he'll have them hanging on each word. And he remembers each word in order.

Each of us has something of interest to say. Even the least articulate can be drawn into a bright discussion, if only someone stumbles upon the golden key to his heart. But will we say it? Could we express ourselves, even if we wished to? Have we the perception to handle small talk, skillful banter, to toss compliments without embarrassing the recipient? To draw out the most interesting remarks another is capable of making?

Are we content with the banalities and platitudes of the weather. (Just right for catching colds), or the office (Just right for catching ulcers), or the kids (Just right for a thrashing), or that blonde who just came in with the homely fellow (just right, it so happens)—?

Talking, if loud and lengthy enough, conceals our inability to converse. We're accustomed to the one, unused to the other. But I hope the youngsters (brighter than ourselves) will learn this art of conversation. At school, where else? Talking they hear at home, what else?

Behind The News—

'Stalinism' Again

By CHARLES M. MCCANN

The Soviet Russian government seems to be working out a thorough re-shaping of its policies after months of embarrassment and confusion.

Moscow dispatches indicate the new policy will cover the proper dividing line between "Stalinism" and "Titoism," relations with the Soviet satellite countries and the prosecution of the cold war.

Nikita S. Khrushchev, the Communist Party chieftain, gave one important clue to the new line in comments he made at a New Year reception in Moscow.

After praising the late Joseph Stalin as "a great Marxist" and "a great fighter against imperialism," Khrushchev admitted that he and other present Soviet leaders shared some of Stalin's mistakes because they were associated with him. In fighting imperialism, Khrushchevs said "we are all Stalinists."

Repeats Earlier Praise

There was nothing sensational in the praise of Stalin. Khrushchev said about the same thing in his sensational denunciation of Stalin at the 20th Communist Party Congress last February.

At that time, Khrushchev specified that in his early years of leadership, Stalin actively fought to defend "Leninism" — that is, Marxism — against those who deviated from the party line. "In the past," Khrushchev said then, "Stalin doubtless performed great services to the party, to the working class and to the international workers movement."

But in his February speech, Khrushchev tried his hardest to absolve himself and his colleagues in the new collective leadership of complicity in Stalin's crimes.

This defense was challenged by Communists in many countries. Khrushchev's new statement seems to be a concession to them.

Accept "Titoist" Government

The problem of drawing the line between old-style Stalinist domination of the satellite countries and Titoism is being met in several ways.

First, the Soviet government seems to have accepted fully the "Titoist" government of Polish Communist Leader Wladyslaw Gomulka.

This was a matter of necessity. The Poles won their revolt against both the "Stalinists" who still ruled their country and against dictation from Moscow. Khrushchev and his fellow-leaders apparently have decided to make the best of it.

In Hungary, now that the active rebellion has been crushed, the Russian leaders appear to be trying to insure that the trend toward a really Titoist government is stopped. As one part of that job, they have started to give economic aid to the Kadar government.

The Chiropractor And You

THE HEALTH YOU WANT

BY

Dr. Frank F. Tucci

Chiropractic science has definitely and unquestionably established that all bodily action and function is produced by a vital nerve force generated in the brain. Through the medium of the nervous system this energy is conducted to every tissue cell in the body. The energy they carry out their transmitted through the spinal cord over spinal nerves to supply all bodily tissues.

When all the organs of the body are supplied with their proper share of vital energy they carry out their respective functions in a normal manner and the body is then in a state of coordination—or the health you want.

It is when this vital nerve energy is not being supplied to specific organs or structures that bodily functions are expressed adbnormally. The body is then in a state of incoordination — or disease (not at ease.)

For a state of health it is necessary that nerve channels be kept clear at all times so that all body organs can receive their proper supply of vital nerve energy.

Disturbance to this supply of nerve energy can result in different kinds of diseases, regardless of the specific name applied. Slight spinal mis-alignments can—and do—interfere with the proper quantity-quality supply of vital nerve energy. This disturbs functions and causes dis-ease.

Chiropractors are spine specialists. They locate and adjust the basic cause of dis-ease. For the health you want visit a Chiropractor and have the cause corrected.

'Speaking of Beauty'

James V. Bonafed

WOULD YOU choose a new dress at your supermarket —or purchase a new hat at the drug store? No! Yet some women patronize these places for an item that means much more to their beauty than a dress or hat: a new hairstyle!

-o-

DID I say "hairstyle"? — I should better have said "hair curl," because its a rare woman who can really restyle her own hair. This is one of the reasons why those who attempt a permanent wave at home are seldom really satisfied with the results. A good permanent wave demands expert cutting and shaping of the hair before it's curled. This takes professional beauty training!

-o-

Professional curlers contribute much to your beauty salon wave, too! Yes, I know you can use vari-sized curlers at home—but how can you guess just how to place each curler in order to shape your hairstyle as your hair waves on the rods? When we wind your hair for a beauty salon permanent, the process is like that of an artist preparing his canvas for a beautiful portrait. We pick each sized curler for a purpose. This takes years of professional know-how!

Rostraver Looks as Good as Any

Rostraver High's spirited basketballers look about as good as any in Section 10. Most observers figure the Leps and Scottdale are the teams most likely to cop 1957 honors. However Derry, Hurst and Ramsay all appear dangerous . . . John Beatty, former Charleroi High floor star, is off to a great start with the Bucknell University quint again this season . . . Another professional boxing show will be staged on Saturday at the Arnold High gym. The main event will pair Garvin Sawyer against Embrel Davidson . . . Sawyer, by the way, is managed by Tom Tannas of Arnold who once piloted former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles.

Bob Clemente, the Pirate outfielder, has now upped his batting average to a whopping .420 for Santurce in the Puerto Rican league . . . Dean Cheesebrough is a busy fellow these days. The former Monessen High baseballer is winding up his studies at California Teachers. He also works in the mill. He also officiates City League basketball games. And he also plays for the Fuocos A. C. cage quint . . . Proceeds from next Saturday's Pitt-Penn State basketball game at the Field House will go toward the Children's Hospital Fund. A special 15 minute basketball tussle featuring Pirate baseball players will open the program at 7 p. m.

Repair Work Completed at CHS Gym

This will be happy news for the more partisan Monessen High basketball followers. Repair work on the Charleroi High gym has been completed. That means the Cougars are practicing again on their own floor . . . By the way, the CHS gym has a new look, according to reports. The floor has been dressed up and the place looks much brighter . . . Speaking of gyms, our sportswriting contemporary in Monongahela, Clair Brown, is still raving about the new Hempfield High layout. "Wow!" writes the excited Brown in describing the Hempfield gym and school "There are teachers at Hempfield who have taught since September of 1956 and still haven't seen all of the school."

Gus Brickner, still happy over the tremendous television coverage which accompanied his annual New Year's Day dip in Pittsburgh, hopes all of the new-found attention will spark a drive to raise funds for a crack at the English Channel. Gus figures it will take $5,000 to conquer the Channel. That sum will cover his transportation and training costs. It will also take care of the $2,000 needed on the day of the Channel attempt. Authorities require that each Channel swimmer rent a boat, completely staffed with attendants including a physician, nurse, time-keepers and judges. That all takes money.

Michelosen Considers Single Wing

It's not surprising to read that Pitt coach John Michelosen may switch to the single-wing next season. That's always been John's style of play . . . Ray Looney, of Glassport, played a fine game at quarterback for George Washington in its 13-0 victory over Texas Western in the Sun Bowl game. Looney was quite a standout in an Ozark Basketball Torunament a few seasons back . . . There's no lack of hospitality at Vandergrift High. A Mothers Club has been organized for the purpose of feeding both the home team and visitors following sports events. The club is made up of athletes mothers and has the sanction of the School Board.

Mickey Owen Aims to Be Big League Pilot

By OSCAR FRALEY

MAYAGUEZ, Puerto Rico (UP) — Mickey Owen was counting on hope and hard work today to beat the adversity which has dogged him and lead him back to the major leagues.

Owen is the one-time Dodger catcher who was the goat of the 1941 World Series and then spent a period in sackcloth and ashes for jumping to the Mexican League. The road back has been a rough one.

"But I'm going all out to prove myself," says Owen, who now manages the Mayaguez Indios of the Puerto Rican League, "and I'm shooting for a managerial job in the major leagues some day."

Recalls Series Error

"Sure, I hear about it once in a while," Owen says of the 1941 game in which he dropped a final out third strike against Tommy Henrich and "Old Reliable" wound up safe at first to keep the Yanks alive and send them on to victory.

"But people haven't been nasty about it," he smiles. They seem more amazed to find out that I'm the fellow who dropped the ball."

Nor does Owen, who was suspended three and one-half years for his jump south of the border, lay the blame on pitcher Hugh Casey.

"Sure, I've heard those stories that Casey threw a spitter," he admitted. "But it wasn't. Casey threw two kinds of curves, a quick one and a big one. He hadn't thrown many big ones that day and it caught me by surprise. That's all there was to it."

This is Owen's fourth year as a manager in the winter leagues and, come springtime, he'll go stateside and manage Jacksonville, Fla., in the Milwaukee system. In his battle back from near oblivion, he has done yeoman work in both the Red Sox and Cardinal chains.

"Maybe it sounds a little corny," mused the youthful looking Mickey, "but baseball is my life. It's what I enjoy doing and it's what I feel I do best.

"Some of those years were what you might call on the rough side," he added. "but I never quit hoping and believing that a game as good as this wouldn't let a man down. It's a long, long way back up to the big leagues and I've had several offers to be a coach. But the bull pen isn't for me. If I work hard enough, maybe, some day, I'll be back on a big league bench as manager of my own ball club. Anyhow, that's what I'm shooting for."

MHS GOES TO BELLMAR TOMORROW

Duquesne Plays Host to Villanova At Field House

By UNITED PRESS

Duquesne University—back from splitting a two-game series in Ohio returns to home court action tonight at Pitt Memorial Fieldhouse against the Villanova Wildcats.

The game highlights the opening night card in the first full week of play following the Christmas vacations. In other games tonight, Gettysburg travels to Penn State and St. Vincent plays at Youngstown.

The Dukes fared better than expected in their Ohio tour. They defeated the Dayton Flyers, 79-71, last Thursday but then went down Saturday night to Cincinnau, 90-79. They open tonight with a 6-4 record.

Panthers Cop

Pittsburgh notched its sixth victory against four defeats Saturday night as it fought off a Lafayette surge in the final minutes to post a 69-59 triumph. Center Bob Lazor pumped in 20 points to boost his career scoring mark to 975 points a new mark

Steubenville scored an easy victory No. 60 in 70 games at the expense of Slippery Rock Saturday night. The Barons stretched a 53-25 half-time edge to a 91-55 final-shot margin.

The Juniata Indians traded points with Bucknell for the first 13 minutes of their game at Huntingdon, Pa., Saturday night but the Bisons then pulled ahead to score an easy 67-50 triumph. Juniata's Mike Armstrong salvaged high-scoring honors for the host club with 18 points.

Tony DiCello, 5-7 guard notched 20 tallies in leading Washington & Jefferson to a 69-61 victory over Thiel. The Presidents, down 35-30, at half-time, took the lead at 52-50 with five minutes gone in the third period.

Penn State Wins

Penn State's Lions fought off a late Carnegie Tech surge Saturday night to hand the Tartans their fifth straight defeat, 52-40. With about a minute and a half to play, Tech reduced the Lions edge to 44-40. But then Penn State held the Tartans scoreless while picking up 8 points, mostly on fouls.

Jim McClellan scored 21 points and John Novalesi pumped in 20 Saturday night to pace St. Francis to a 79-63 victory over Westminster at New Wilmington The Frankies broke loose with eight straight points in the final quarter to ice the victory.

Pros Rack up Collegians in Honolulu Bowl

HONOLULU (UP)— The pro-powered Hawaii All-Stars proved one thing Sunday in their 52-21 clobbering of the College All Stars in the Hula Bowl: A sure way to victory is to play an outclassed team.

It was that kind of ball game Norm Van Brocklin, the "Flying Dutchman" of the Los Angeles Rams, had a field day as he led his mates in a display of power that had the collegians rocky in the first half and reeling in the second.

Van Brocklin passed for five touchdowns and kicked four conversions — all drop kicks.

The Collegians finally got on the John Brodie, the Stanford passing whiz, was slated to lead the amateurs' attack from the quarterback slot. But he was racked up in the second quarter and Notre Dame's Paul Hornung was moved over from the fullback position to fill the gap scoreboard when Hornung started passing. A toss to Pitt's All-America end Joe Walton netted 34 yards in the second period and the College All-Stars only first half touchdown. The halfway edge was 18-7.

Hornung was voted the outstanding back and Bob Toneff of the Forty Niners was named the outstanding lineman.

Illinois Dribblers Hope to Rebound

By UNITED PRESS

Illinois, the nation's only high-ranked basketball team to stumble at the start in the race for conference championships, will be battling to regain its footing tonight when it tangles with Iowa's defending Big Ten champions.

The Illini, who were upset, 91-88, by Minnesota on Saturday night on a brilliant performance by Jed Dommeyer, thus fell out of step with such cage powers as Kansas, Kentucky, and UCLA.

Illinois, ranked sixth in the nation by the United Press Board of Coaches, held sharpshooting Dommeyer scoreless in the first half of Saturday's game and held a 47-43 halftime lead. But Dommeyer broke loose with 20 points in the second half, offsetting 28 by George Bonsalle of Illinois and clinching the game.

With an 0-1 mark in Big Ten play as a result of this loss, Illinois will be favored to even its mark tonight when it plays host to Iowa (4-4), since the Hawkeyes aren't up to their form of last year.

Wilt Has Bad Night

Kansas, the nation's No. 1 team, opened its quest for the Big Seven championship with a 92-79 victory over Missouri despite what rivals would call a "bad night" by Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain. The 7-foot soph missed 12 of 17 shots and wound up with "only" 23 points for the night (plus 22 rebounds) — but it was more than enough, to help Kansas boost its overall season record to 10-0.

Third-ranked Kentucky, which missed winning the Southeastern Conference title last season for the second time in 13 years, opened its new drive with a 95-72 victory over Georgia Tech for a 9-2 overall record, and seventh-ranked UCLA squeaked to a 69-68 victory over Idaho. Among the other members of the "Big Five," second-ranked North Carolina was idle and fifth-ranked Louisville, an independent, romped to an 86-67 victory over DePaul as Bill Darragh led the way with 26 points.

Sets Scoring Mark

In addition to Dommeyer and Chamberlain, individual stars of the weekend included: Hot Rod Hundley of West Virginia, who set a school scoring mark with 54 points in 110-95 victory over Furman; Hank Nowak of Canisius, with 25 in 73-60 win over Fordham; Ted Guzek with 38 and Bob Plump with 32 for Butler in 86-84 victory over Notre Dame on Plumo's long shot with five seconds left; Bucky Allen of Duke, with 34 in 92-85 conquest of North Carolina St.; Archie Dees of Indiana, with 26 in 73-68 win over Michigan; Cal Ramsey of NYU with 37 despite team's 94-88 upset by unbeaten Brandeis; Paul Neumann, with 20 that included the winning goal in Stanford's 60-58 decision over Oregon State; Frank Howard of Ohio State, who tallied 24 in 72-60 victory over Iowa; Bill Ebeen of Detroit with 32 and Red Murrell of Drake with 33 in Detroit's 75-69 win; Grady Wallace, the nation's No. 2 scorer, with 22 in South Carolina's 68-60 victory over Maryland; Mike Moran of Marquette, with 26 despite team's 71-69 loss to Loyola (Ill.); Larry Friend of California, with 24 in 61-51 victory over Washington St.; and Joe King of Oklahoma, who tallied 28 points, including the winning basket with six seconds left, in 69-67 decision over Kansas St.

Pitt Pays Tribute To 'Uncrowned' Eastern Champs

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Pittsburgh paid tribute to its "uncrowned" eastern collegiate grid champions Sunday.

More than 1,000 fans attended a banquet to honor the University of Pittsburgh football squad.

Notre Dame Athletic Director Edward (Moose) Krause took the occasion to recall similar victory dinners once held at South Bend. "But as long as there is a Notre Dame we will have a football team out there trying its best to win."

Dr. Edward Litchfield, Pitt chancellor, set the pace for the banquet sponsored by the Pittsburgh Press when he praised the Panthers for their "raw courage" to win. And, he added:

Lots of Work

"If every dean and every department head put in as much work as John Michelosen we would have an institution as great in the total sense as his football team."

Penn State's Athletic Director Ernie McCoy, whose squad tied the Panthers 7-7, boasted Pitt as the unofficial winner of the eastern crown. "These boys are the real eastern champions," he said.

Michelosen presented to the audience the assistant coaches who had helped the Panthers to their 7-2-1 record, the best mark since the golden days of Jock Sutherland.

Co-Captain Bob Pollock introduced the squad players who were each presented with a traveling bag.

Gatto Surprises Olympic Champ

NEW YORK (UP)—Dennis Gatto of New York University, surprise conqueror of Olympic track champion Tom Courtney, will make his next appearance in the 600-yard run in the Knights of Columbus meet in Boston, Jan. 19.

Gatto, who never had won a major race, outran Courtney in the stretch Saturday night to win the 600-yard event in the New York Metropolitan AAU championship His invitation to the Boston meet came through promptly.

The defeat continued a jinx for Courtney, who was beaten in this race a year ago for his only loss of the indoor track season. The ex-Fordham star, who won the Olympic 800-meter championship in December, had been expected to menace the meet record but instead bowed to Gatto's ordinary 1:12.5.

Hounds Takes 35 Game Win Streak To Tiny Cane Gym

Monessen High's hustling Hounds will take their fancy Section 5 winning streak to Bellmar tomorrow.

And there are those who reason that the end may be at hand. At any rate Monessen anticipates a difficult time.

Coach Frank Janosik's boys ran their unbeaten string in league play to 35 games last Friday, turning back Brownsville, 56-40.

However that score is somewhat misleading. The Hounds cut loose only in the closing moments to turn the game into a romp.

Bellmar started the season on the wrong foot, losing at California, 55-51.

However the Canes figure to be much stronger at home. They know every inch of their cramped gym.

Big Problem

As a matter of fact, it's the Bellmar floor which poses the big problem for the Hounds. With no "big" men in the lineup, Monessen has relied on speed and finesse to win games to date.

On a tiny flor, though, those factors are greatly reduced. Thus the Canes are rated a good chance of dumping the Hounds.

Charleroi, the odds-on favorite to win valley honors this season, will begin its Section 5 play at Monongahela. The Cougars are supposed to handle the hot-and-cold Monongahelans without too much trouble.

No one is quite sure how good the Cats are. At times this season they've looked downright pathetic. At other times, they've looked pretty good.

Barely Lost

At Donora last Friday, Monongahela barely lost a one point decision. That was certainly nothing to be ashammed of.

Another Section 5 hassle will show Donora at Brownsville. The host Brownies are slight favorites in that tussle.

Three games are on tap in Section 10. Rostraver will face a big test at Hurst.

The Hurricanes lost their first game of the season last Friday, dropping a close decision at Ramsay. If the Leps win, they will be in a strong contending position.

Most experts feel that the Section 10 race will be won by the team which can capture a couple of away tussles. That's how even the quints appear to be.

Section 10 Frays

Other Section 10 frays will send Scottdale to Dunbar and Ramsay to Ligonier.

No league games are on tap in Section 17. However Perryopolis will play host to A'l-Saints and West Newton will welcome Avonworth in exhibition tussles.

Junior WPIAL activity will begin tomorrow. In Section 1, Monessen will go to Monongahela, Charleroi will appear at Washington and Donora will travel to California.

Donora and Charleroi have looked best in exhibition tests.

The Section 3 card wil show Marion at Vernon, Rostraver at Fallowfield and Carroll Twp. at Perryopolis.

Vernon and Marion both have undefeated records, but Rostraver is considered a strong contender.

BOWLING

By JOE JANNOTTA

It's surprising how many bowlers do not know how to properly score the game. In recent weeks, we've received a number of letters along this line.

So this week, let us consider scoring. We trust the more advanced bowler will stay with us for this discussion.

Actually five symbols contain almost all there is to scoring a game: the (x) for a strike; the (/) for a spare; the (—) for an error; the (0) for a split; and the (F) for a foul.

Other Symbols

There are other symbols used in some locations but these five are universal and tell the story of the game.

The game of bowling has ten frames. Two balls are allowed in each frame, except when the bowler rolls a strike.

Thus we already know the essentials for scoring. In Wednesday's column, we'll learn the technique

North and South Score Sweeps

North blanked the East and South swept over the West in Ball and Chain League bowling over the weekend.

Scoring leaders were Mike Adamio, 193-510; John Harrison, 181-483, Ray Echart, 191-472; Bob McKeever, 170-454; Steve Swansick, 162-451; Martha Druash, 156-379, Pearl Weightman, 146-373; Jean DeGregorio, 136-362. Marge Burger, 113-333; and Frances Gagatko, 138-321

Standings show East, 19-17; West, 19-17; South, 18-18, and North, 16-20.

Elks Open with Clean Sweep

Elks blanked Aquarium to start off the second half race in the Center's City Bowling League on Saturday.

In other matches, Italian Hall took a pair from the Cro-Ams and No 3 Maintenance won two games from the Turners

Scoring leaders were Jim Salay, 167-473; Russ Labrasca, 193-485; Sam Havrilak, 178-514; Nick Cullen, 180-507; Woch Ciepley, 173-484; George Maund, 571.

Two Whitewashes In Ladies Loop

St. Mary blanked St Theresa and St. Ann swept over St. Monica in St. Cajetan Ladies League bowling yesterday

Scoring leaders were Orla Rossetti, 101-301; Jay Nicksich, 112-325; Butch Oliver, 110-312; Pat Digioria, 107-299.

Standings show St. Ann, 11-1; St Mary, 7-5; St. Theresa, 5-7; St Monica, 1-11.

Vlasics Romp in Fence League

Vlasics blanked the Chuligs in Fence Shop League bowling over the weekend.

In another match, Calderones won a pair from the Mascettas.

Scoring leaders were Chuck Vlasic, 179-489; Mike Bachuchin, 157-404; Nick Mascetta, 193-473; Pete Klassan, 158-435; Ilvo Picchiarini, 160-406; Andy Kasci, 171-401; Ridsy Calderone Sr., 140-400

Standings show Calderones, 5-1; Vlasics, 4-2; Mascettas, 3-3, and Chuligs, 0-6.

Cards, Robins in Bowling Wins

Cardinals won two games from the Bluejays and Robins took a pair from the Orioles in Eagles Ladies League bowling over the weekend.

Top scorers were Helen Wolford, 188-428 (new single game high); Dorothy Wendell, 147-383; Ruth Koget, 147-355; Ann Lombardo, 131-338; Mildred Kachmark, 149-352; and Rose Marie Knox, 127-330.

Venezuela, producer of 2,000,000 barrels of oil a day, exports more petroleum than any other nation. The South American republic is second only to United States in the volume of oil tapped.

Turners Second In Volleyball

Edged Out in Championship Match Of Baltimore Open Tournament

Monessen Turners crack volleyball team finished second in the highly-publicized Baltimore Invitation Open Tournament on Saturday in the Maryland city.

Seventeen of the finest eastern teams competed.

Coach Bud Giannini was happy with Monessen's performance, even though the club "ran out of gas" in the championship bout.

The volleyball show started at 10 a. m. Saturday. It wasn't until 11 o'clock that night that the title game got underway.

By then the Monessen boys began to show the effects of the long tourney haul. They lost in two of three games to the 1957 champion Plainfield, N. J.

Not One-Sided

The title match was hardly one-sided. The Jersey spikers took the first game, 15-10. Monessen came back to earn a 15-12 decision in the second tilt.

The deciding tussle was a thriller. Plainfield eventually won, 16-14.

To advance to the championship game. Monessen had to eliminate West Side, N. Y., 15-7 and 15-6; Norristown, 15-10 and 15-5; Baltimore, 15-9 and 15-11; Washington D. C., 15-13 and 15-12; and Winsacket, Mass., 15-6 and 15-11.

Bruno Krusl, of Monessen was named to the All Tournament team.

Other Members

Other members of the Monessen club were Len Kachmarek, who flew in from college classes at Flint, Michigan; Bob Parsons, Lefty Vlasic, Nick Sowko, Andy Seftas, Jim Teska, Lou Kunka and Bill DiMascio.

A senior girls team from Monessen also entered the women's division of the tourney but failed to capture any honors.

The second-place finish for Giannini's boys maintained their fine record of never placing lower than second in tourney's this year.

Cro-Ams, Viaduct In Tough City League Games

Both the front-running Cro-Ams and the challenging Viaduct cagers face difficult tests tonight in City Basketball League action.

The Cro-Ams will meet Fuocos A. C. at 8 while Viaduct will take on the Ozarks at 7. In another match this evening, Cips will tackle S-L at 9.

The Cro-Ams, boasting an 8-0 record, have had some narrow squeaks of late. That may be an indication that the pressure is beginning to tell.

Certainly all foes are going all-out to smash the only remaining perfect record in the loop.

Fuocos have a respectable 4-4 record for the year They are tough when they want to be.

No Pushover

Viaduct has no pushover, either. The Ozarks also boast a 4-4 mark.

Candiens Employ 'Power Play' to Defeat Rangers

By UNITED PRESS

The Montreal Canadiens, who act as though they had a "copyright" on the power play, are using their favorite weapon to perfection in the current National Hockey League race.

The Canadiens lost star center Jean Beliveau through an injury in the first period Sunday night in their game with the New York Rangers, but they still managed to take advantage of two man-power shortages to beat the Broadway Blues, 3-2. The win boosted Montreal past Boston into second place in the NHL race, only a point in back of the Detroit Red Wings, who shaded Toronto, 2-1.

Maurice Richard rifled a 20-footer past New York goalie Lorne Worsley while Harry Howell was off ice in the second period and Dickie Moore batted in the winning goal in the third period with Lou Fontinato of the Rangers in the penalty box.

John Bucyk's breakaway goal at 13:36 of the final period enabled the Red Wings to beat the Maple Leafs, who outplayed Detroit throughout most of the game but couldn't capitalize on the breaks.

Robinson Remains Firm on His Decision to Quit Baseball

By JOHN GRIFFIN

NEW YORK (UP) — The New York Giants' last-ditch efforts to prevent Jackie Robinson's retirement from baseball were doomed today by Jackie's statement he wouldn't play again "for a million dollars" and his anger at the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Robinson disclosed during the weekend he is quitting his historic career in baseball for even more lucrative work with a restaurant chain and a national magazine.

"I can't imagine any conditions under which I would change my mind," Robinson insisted. "That goes especially after what I read Vice President Buzzy Bavasi of the Dodgers said about me the other day."

The 36-year-old Robinson, first Negro in organized baseball, was brimming over with anger at Bavasi even as he announced his departure from the diamond. Bavasi was quoted as saying Robinson treated the press unfairly in concealing his retirement plans from Dec. 12 until last Saturday, when they were announced through a magazine (Look). Bavasi added, "You fellows (newspapermen) will find you've been tooting the horn for the wrong fellow."

Thought Bavasi Friend

"I thought Bavaski was a better friend of mine than to say that," said Robinson in angry tones. "Oh well, it's not the first time he popped off without knowing what he was talking about."

Before Bavasi's remarks were made known, Robinson had been quoted as saying he might return to baseball if the president of his new company, the restaurant chain, so desired. But now Jackie insists, "I'm through playing ball, period."

Robinson admitted he "had to mislead" reporters about his plans when his trade from the Dodgers to the Giants was announced on Dec. 13. He couldn't say anything, even though he had already signed with the restaurant chain on Dec. 12, because he was bound by contract with the magazine to save the announcement of his retiretirement for them.

Asks Announcement Delay

"When I was told by Bavasi of the trade," Jackie explained, "I phoned Vice President Chub Feeney of the Giants and urged that the announcement be held up. I said I would have my plans ready by Jan. 10. But the Giants said they couldn't hold up the announcement because the news might leak out."

The deal, which thus was doomed even before it was announced publicly, is cancelled by Robinson's retirement — or will be when Jackie goes through the formality of officially applying for voluntary retirement from baseball. The Giants will get back the $30,000 cash, plus southpaw pitcher Dick Littlefield, they gave the Dodgers.

Giant owner Horace Stoneham said in Phoenix, Ariz., Sunday he will spare no expense to get Robinson to play, but Jackie's attitude left no hope for Stoneham.

NCAA Considers Grid Recruiting In 51st Meeting

ST. LOUIS (UP) —The NCAA's biggest convention — 51st for the National Collegiate Athletic Association — tackled such weighty problems as football recruiting today, and some out-of - work coaches went job-hunting.

The job - hunting promised to provide as much entertainment, or more, than the weeklong assault on such matters as financial aid, relations between major league baseball and the colleges, and next fall's football television plans. The TV committee met for the whole day today. Sessions were closed.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said it would be the biggest convention by far, with some 1,500 persons attending, about 1,000 of them coaches. Athletic directors, college presidents, and sports figures made up the rest of the convention crowd.

Stan (The Man) Musial headed a list of leading major leaguers in conducting a baseball clinic for collegiate coaches as the convention got down to business.

Steelers, Montreal Quibble over Standout Tackle

PITTSBURGH (UP)— The Pittsburgh Steelers and the Montreal Alouettes laid clashing claims today to Mississippi Southern tackle Don Owens.

Both teams said Owens "signed a contract and accepted money from us."

Art Rooney, president of the National Football League team, said Steelers Coach Walt Kiesling signed Owens last Friday in Mobile, Ala. "We gave him a bonus to close the deal," he added.

"The boy said he wants to play with us," Rooney declared.

Leo Dandurand, Alouettes president, insisted "It looks to me like we signed him first." The Canadian club official said the Alouettes contract had been signed by Owens and Coach Doug Walker in Nashville last week. Sports writer Fred Russell witnessed the signing, Dandurand asserted.

Top Lineman

Owens, 6-5, 260 pound tackle from St. Louis, was voted the outstanding lineman for the South in its 21-7 triumph over the North at the Senior Bowl in Mobile last Saturday. The married grid star, who won a Purple Heart while a Marine in Korea, was the No. 3 draft choice of the Steelers in the National Football League picks last December.

If Owens signed with both clubs, it would mark the third double signing involving the Alouettes in as many years. Montreal quarterback Sam Etcheverry signed with both the Alouettes and the Chicago Cardinals two years ago. A court decision favored the Alouettes claim.

Last year Montreal inked halfback Gordon Malloy of Florida to a contract only to learn he later signed with Detroit. NFL Commissioner Bert Bell awarded Malloy's contract to Montreal but the backfield star has never played in Canada.

Fullmer Wants Fight in June

NEW YORK (UP) — Middleweight champion Gene Fullmer, flying home to Utah today, still held out for a June title defense against Sugar Ray Robinson, instead of one in March or April.

Manager Marv Jenson, accompanying Gene on the flight, said, "We'll keep our 90-day return-bout contract with Robinson by letting Robinson sign within the 90 days for a June shot at the title in Yankee Stadium."

The contract, calling for a defense within 90 days, was signed before Fullmer won the crown from Sugar Ray last Wednesday.

Promoter Jim Norris, now in Miami, Fla., plans to phone Jenson and Fullmer at West Jordan later this week and try to arrange an April fight with Robinson.

Hungarian Stars To Tour Country

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)— A group of 16 Hungarian and Romanian Olympic game swimmers and divers helped launch a six-week "freedom tour" of America to benefit the Hungarian relief fund Sunday by beating a group of Miami AAU all-stars, 33-15. A water show benefit was staged later by the foreign swimmers who refused to return to their homelands after the Olympic Games.

Brennan Will Return to Irish Next Season

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP)—Terry Brennan was armed today with a vote of confidence and a new lease on his Notre Dame coaching life but his 1957 football team faced a tougher schedule than did the disappointing Irish of last fall.

The Irish, who have never sought the easy road, will clash with all eight of their 1956 conquerors on the gridiron next season—plus Army. The Cadets replace North Carolina, one of two foes the Irish were able to beat this year.

Brennan, who suffered through Notre Dame's worst football season, said he was "happy and appreciative" for another chance at recapturing the school's traditional football glory.

News of Brennan's rehiring for at least one more season came in a simple 50-word statement Saturday night from the Rev. Theodore M. Hesbaugh, C.S.C., president of Notre Dame.

"Coach Terry Brennan was engaged in 1954 on a verbal agreement for three years. Upon recommendation of the faculty board in control of athletics we are now reengaging him next year.

The Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, Notre Dame vice president and faculty man in charge of athletics, explained that the verbal agreement covered one year—until Feb. 1, 1958.

Busso Takes on Courchesne Tonight

NEW YORK (UP) —Lightweight Johnny Busso of New York seeks his eighth straight victory tonight in a 10-rounder with Bobby Courchesne of Chicopee, Mass., at St. Nicholas Arena.

The bout will be televised by DuMont at 10:30 p.m. EST.

Busso, 22, is favored at 13-5 to beat the New England champion, 23, because of his aggressiveness and ruggedness. Ex - world champion Paddy De Marco originally was slated to fight Busso tonight, but withdrew because of an infected finger.

County Personal Property Tax Forms Mailed

Andrew N. Kritsky, of Monessen, chairman of the Westmoreland County Board of Tax Revision and Assessment, today announced that forms for the 1957 county personal property tax of four mills have been mailed to all county residents known to hold personal assets.

Some 5,000 blank forms have been sent.

Personal property such as mortgages at interest, certain bonds, some stocks, judgment notes and other types of securities are taxable under the law.

Chairman Kritsky said that the deadline for a declaration of holdings of those taxable is Feb. 15, 1957. He pointed out that failure to receive a personal property tax form does not excuse anyone from making a declaration.

The forms are returnable to Ruth K. Schick, personal property tax clerk, whose office is in the north end of the basement of the courthouse.

WHICH MAN PASSED THE N. P.* TEST?

*NINETY PERCENT

The poised, smartly-dressed man at the right of course. You can tell at a glance . . . and that's why the Ninety-Percent Test is so important. People judge you by what they see (sometimes that's all they have to go on) and ninety percent of what they see of you is what you wear. The fresh finish of drycleaned clothes is more than an extra touch . . . like a flower in the buttonhole. It's an integral part of good grooming. The state of your clothes tells volumes about the kind of person you are. In fact, your clothes never stop talking about you.

You buy your clothes to make a good impression. As you wear them, have them drycleaned often. A smart man takes care to keep that impression fresh.

Your Health—

Be Careful When Visiting Sick Child

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

You've got to be as careful and considerate when visiting a hospitalized child as you would be when calling on the boss's wife. But you must dress differently.

Don't doll up in your Sunday best when going to see your youngster in his hospital room. Strange clothes make even mother a stranger to a sick little tyke.

Speak to him in a natural tone. Don't worry about being overheard by a nurse or a patient in the next bed.

Let him know that you and the rest of the family have missed him and that everyone is thinking of him. Tell him, too, about what has been happening at home, emphasizing what you and he are going to do when he gets out of the hospital.

Ask what he has been doing and encourage him to discuss what has happened to him in the hospital. It will help greatly to relieve his mind if he can tell you about the awful medicines he has taken and the way the needle hurts when the nurse plunges it into his arm.

Sympathize with him, impressing upon him that you know how he feels. But at the same time point out that all these things are helping him get well and speeding his return home.

Don't let him dwell on his troubles, however.

To help keep his mind off them, take him some little toy, if the hospital permits. It shouldn't be anything complicated or exciting, but it should be enough to hold his interest for a while at least.

Of course there are the old standbys such as coloring and paint books. But you can probably think of something just as good, if not better.

Maybe the hospital will permit a bubble pipe. If not, a little music box might be just the thing. An underwater garden in a bowl can also be fascinating to a youngster, and a couple of goldfish helps chase loneliness.

So plan that hospital visit at least a few hours in advance. You'll probably make your youngster a lot happier and more content if you do.

'Omnibus' to Lose Time Spot on Sunday Evening

NEW YORK (UP)—The channel swim...

It's beginning to look as if "Omnibus" will lose its Sunday evening time spot on ABC-TV next fall. Disappointing ratings are the villain. Ted Mack's "Original Amateur Hour" looks like the hot contender for the slot.

Parke Levy, creator of "December Bride," is working up a new TV series for Arnold Stang and Harry Morgan...Fire destroyed Ralph Edwards' $100,000 beach home at Trancas, Calif.—toughest blow for Ralph was the loss of a library of home movies of his kids.

ABC-TV is cooking up a new one-hour musical show to slot opposite NBC-TV's Perry Como and CBS-TV's Jackie Gleason on Saturdays...ABC-TV is also wooing Mike Wallace for a new "magazine" type show.

Mrs. G. Paul Jones, who was slated to appear this week as a contestant on CBS-TV's "Name That Tune," gave birth to a 7-pound 7-ounce boy at Macon, Ga., on Wednesday morning. Mrs. Jones now is ticketed in for the Jan. 15 show.

CBS-TV is close to closing a deal for an "Eloise" series that would star Evelyn Rudie... Sammy Kaye has added a mounting jackpot to his old "So You Want To Lead A Band" series and is pitching it to ad agencies.

Today in Congress:

Northern Democrats To Present Program

WASHINGTON (UP) — A group of Northern House members plans to issue its own "Democratic legislative program" before President Eisenhower presents his program to Congress next Thursday.

Their strategy is to go on record first with a program more liberal than the one they expect the President to propose.

Leaders of the group are secretly circulating a statement which, for one thing, calls for a strong civil rights program. The Northerners are bypassing Southern Democrats in their attempt to get enough endorsements to make issuing the document worthwhile. And so far, they have not cleared the proposed program with Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex).

Informants said the program also proposes a big school construction program, revision of the Taft-Hartley Act, extending coverage to additional workers under the minimum wage law and permanent liberalization of immigration laws.

It also calls for a U.S. plan to try to end colonialism by extending foreign aid to countries which give up their overseas possessions.

Other congressional news:

Electoral: The Senate and House were called into joint session at noon EST to formally tally the votes cast by presidential electors in reelecting President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The count has long been known by everyone: Eisenhower and Nixon, 457; Stevenson and Kefauver, 73; Walter B. Jones and Herman E. Talmadge, 1.

Filibuster: A group of Northern and Western senators plans a new attempt to curb filibusters in the Senate. It is understood the move will come late this week or early next week. The group is encouraged by a parliamentary opinion of Vice President Richard M. Nixon that each Senate has the constitutional right to draft its own rules. Specifically, they want a new rule to make it easier to shut off Senate debate.

Soil Bank: The House Agriculture Committee called Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson for questioning on the soil bank program. Democratic members wanted him to answer charges that the administration used the program to help win the November election.
